CRANFORD HIGH SCHOOL

CRANFORD, N. J.

FOREWORD

We, the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-eight, the first to graduate from the new high school, hope sincerely that we may some day, in the new life ahead of us, look back and feel that we have done our best to establish a precedent of which we may be proud, and worthy of being followed by the generations of students to come.

Class Song of 1938

Music by Philip Musso

Words by Janet Cross

Oh, Class of '38 we greet thee now,
Our parting song to thee we sing.
In years to come, each thought returning
To Cranford's halls, where our memories cling,
Those youthful days of work and careless play
Through four short years have seemed to fly,
Will you remember us as well
As we remember thee, Oh Cranford High?

To take thy name to far flung parts of earth,
We'll strive the Blue and Gold to wave;
That all the world may know as we go forth
That Cranford's banners stand for the brave.
As now we pass beyond your portals,
We promise thee we will not fail.
This song we chant in unison—
Oh, Cranford High School do we greet thee, "Hail!"

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

CLASS HISTORY

When we, the Class of 1938 entered Cleveland High School, we all had a feeling that we were destined to have something unusual happen to us. To start things rolling we chose for sophomore officers Eleanor Wysocki, president; Jack Arnesen, vice-president; Alex Bell, secretary; and Ruth Schade, treasurer. The chrysanthemum became the class flower. "Deeds, not words" was immortalized as our motto, and crimson and silver were ordained to decorate the programs of the Junior Sub and Junior-Senior Prom.

After the loss of our Junior president, Carol Morrison, Harold Grimes was elected to step into her unoccupied shoes, with William Tyree right behind him. Marjorie Miskelly threatened us with dire consequences if we didn't pay our dues, and Muriel Lindsay read the minutes at class meetings. Two one-act plays were given, followed by dancing, to carry out the Junior Play tradition, and we moved on into our Senior year.

William Carroll became the gavel-wielder with Fred Schroder to help him; Margaret Robinson worried over our money matters, and Alice Black recorded the events at meetings.

After the Christmas holidays we fulfilled our destiny when the whole school picked up its belongings and transferred to the new building at West End Place. This gave us the honor of being the first class to graduate from "Dear New C. H. S." It also gave us something smaller than Freshmen to trip over—the 7th and 8th graders—the Freshmen having learned to defend themselves. The Senior House Warming was the first dance given in the new gym, and a large profit was made. The Senior Play, "Growing Pains" was presented in March, and we were told that it was the best Senior play ever put on.

And so we come to the end by wishing the Class of '39 as much success as we have enjoyed.

"Rah! Rah! C. H. S.!"

CLASS PROPHECY

"Well, Fred, do you still prefer to remain a bachelor after seeing how happily married Elinore and I are?" Thus we sat down to dinner, the seven of us, Elinore and I, our husbands, the twins, and our dinner guest, our old classmate Fred Schroder. After telling each other how little we had changed after all these years (knowing all the time we couldn't have recognized each other without calling cards) I started again to find out about Fred's ideas on marriage.

"You know this bachelor life isn't all it is supposed to be. Frankly I've heard there's no comfort to it whatsoever."

"Truthfully, Louise," answered Fred, "I've heard it is much more comfortable than the thorny road of matrimony."

The husbands interrupted, as husbands have a habit of doing and reminded us that we were here to discuss details for our round-the-world trip. It took us all the rest of dinner and the evening to iron out the details—such as, which liner; should we take the twins; should we take the golf clubs and in what neighbor's care should we leave the dog.

The next day we started our shopping tour at Bonwit Teller's. We were greeted by Charles Albury, dapper floor walker, who directed us to the Children's Department. Doris Byrnes, one of the clerks, satisfied our needs.

From there we went to Stern's. In the coat department we bumped into Lucy Di Tullio, who was shopping with her four little boys. Louise called the twins' attention to little Wallie and Willie Cheser who were accompanied by their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Cheser.

We four went to luncheon at Berardinelli's Spaghetti Shoppe where we were greeted by the proprietor himself. He told us we had just missed Betty Merrill, the well-known nurse, and her chum, Janet Cross, who was teaching at Katharine Gibbs School.

Six P. M.! We went to meet our husbands and Fred for dinner at the Hotel Waldorf Astoria. To our surprise the featured orchestra of the evening was Wally Roberts and his Sophisticated Syncopators. He introduced Miss Vallera Conshors, soloist for the evening.

The night before sailing the five of us decided to do the town. We started at the age-old Stork Club. Seated at the table across from us was New York's famed playboy, Joe Plummer, and with him was the famous model, Patty Wild.

Later on at another club we were amazed to spy Jane McGinnis, our former schoolmate, graciously selling cigarettes.

We wound up in the early morning at Childs'. The hostess, Patricia Jewell, seated us.

The next day, at the pier, we saw Mrs. Beam and Mrs. Ballare bidding farewell to their husbands who were leaving on a tour through the wilds of Africa. Their interpreter, William Scholz, was accompanying them.

The steward, Edwin Ensor, showed us to our staterooms and introduced us to the stewardess, Patricia Enright, who took a great liking to the twins. We learned from them that the head chef was none other than Victor Radlinski.

The passenger list showed us that Admiral and Mrs. Nathaniel Mims; Countess Olivia Van Ostaff, the former Mary Hosmer; Mildred Jansen, famous mannequin; Marjorie Miskelly, leader of the well-known swing orchestra; and Eleanor Gunvaldsen, U. S. Secretary of State, were among those crossing with us.

The captain of the boat, Sir Herbert Simmons, was the master of ceremonies at the entertainment on the last night.

When we arrived in London one of the first functions we attended was the opera. During the course of the evening we met Alex Bell, Dartmouth football coach; Richard Andrews, chemical engineer; Curtis Hallbert, head photographer of the Life Magazine; Eleanor Metz, President of the London branch of the Thursday Morning Club; Barbara Waters, Joke Editor of the Punch Magazine; and in the orchestra pit we discovered Phil Musso.

Of course we had to stop in Paris for the Exposition. The first day of our visit we attended a fashion show put on by Janice Barnes and Isabel Fairweather (well-known fashion designers). The clothes were modeled by Helen Franklin, better known as the wife of the French aviator, Orville De Trix; blonde Ruth Schade, third wife of Lord Ronvater IV; and Ethel Schultze, famous Parisian model.

From here we hurried over to the Palais De La Danse where Edna Miller was making box office history. Charles Binder was doing an adagio dance with Marian Stephens and Doris Bogen was doing interpretive dancing.

Passing a sidewalk cafe we noticed Lester Bishop, Paris Playboy, accompanied by two lovely redheads, one of whom we recognized as none other than Pete Franklin, a young widow.

From Paris we dropped down to Spain. In Madrid, the king of the spring festival was Edward Cole, Chicago financier, and queen was Frances Mac Phail, former debutante. Olga Mirkowich, New York dancer, led a special number. Going farther into the country we located Barbara Sinclair, world-known poet, in her charming castle. Visiting her was her sister, Nancy, petite society matron. There also, we met Charles Kiani — famous soldier of fortune — and their other house guests, Jack Jensenius and Camp Hopkins, who had just completed their walking tour around southern Europe. It was hinted that they might soon need the services of Jack Henning, internationally famous chiroprapist. Before leaving Madrid we stopped to see one of its traditional bull fights. We were thrilled by the matadors Jack Modne, George Leavitt, and John Redmon. Crossing the border to leave Spain we encountered the Nordstrom brothers, Richard and Roy, having a little trouble trying to get their stunt act into the country.

Back again — speeding over southern France, the newspapers told us that the hero of the hour in Monte Carlo was E. Calvin Shire, Jr., who has just had the honor (or luck) to break the bank. On the beach at Nice were Eleanor Wysocki and her chum Muriel Lindsay taking a hard earned vacation from their exclusive Fifth Avenue dress shop. Resting a day at Cannes from the constant journey Fred told us he had met the famous golf pros., George (Casey) Poeltler and Harold Grimes, battling for the cup offered by none other than Dick Vandermade, the owner of the Safer-Than-Sure-Safety-Fastener Company. While exploring the town, Elinore and Louise ran into Elizabeth Smith and Margaret Robinson searching frantically for some antique mirrors for their homes in Scarsdale.

Resuming the tour with new vigor we went to Rome — to see the ancient marvels. At the station we were greeted by hordes and hordes of people. We smiled feebly, wondering why on earth we should receive such an ovation.

We realized that we were mistaken as the crowd surged toward the last car. From it emerged the great matinee idol, William (Petruccio) Herzog and his manager and press agent — Harold Davis. Outside of the city, digging beside the Apian way we found Professor Dora Finch and her assistant Helen Martin, Professor Thomas Greene and his assistant Felix Moses — all archeologists looking for the ruins of Ancient Rome. Moving on to Venice we found Roy Brinkerhoff, president of the Gondoliers' Union, who had added the modern touch to "gondoliering." It was rumored throughout the town that his business was suffering on account of the competition offered by the Markowich Speed-boat Company.

Flying toward Switzerland, our pilot pointed out Professor Chinery in a balloon observing the stars. Arriving at St. Moritz we met Dorothy Dengler, the head ski instructor. Among her pupils were Margaret Trompelt, U. S. Secretary of War, and Albert Volckmann, personal secretary to Roland Stout, the head of internationally famous broadcasting studios. Louise Young, television artist was also trying her luck at the sport. Duchess Von Swizzpauli (alias Alice Ruth Black) registered herself and her seven handsome little dukes as we were leaving for Berlin. There Josephine Bostinto and Josephine Santoro were the rage of the town as the "Singing Jo's". In the company with them was that famous trombone player, Calvin Schwabe, and clever comedian, Steve Peti, with his stooge, Mary Laucus. The human cannon balls, Marguerite Hess and John Feduniak, were startling all of Berlin.

On to Moscow! Our attention was called to an approaching train by the lusty bass voice of John Caffrey. Here Edward Cosmos and Gordon Grau, automobile salesmen, were trying their luck at selling Fords to Russians. We enjoyed a completely Americanized dinner at the home of the famous scientist, Richard Shaw. There also were Norman Shire, economist, and Betty Williams, New York dress buyer. The vegetables were supplied by Raymond Scott and Jack Willis, who were running a cooperative farm just outside Moscow. — Still hitch-hiking,—this time to Vladivostok, was Paul Svendsen. In Siberia, we were told of the imprisonment of Joe Shepard, due to the use of blasphemy in referring to the Soviet government. Showing the Russians just how to dig ditches were Raymond Collins and Edwin Rohrer. We went southward toward Tibet where Miss Elizabeth Rood was doing notable missionary work accompanied by Dorothy Reiner and Pastor Philip Conley. Fighting on through the wilderness was a party of explorers consisting of Emma Beese, Jeanne French, Vera Kovacs, Harry Harrison, Ruth Keyser, Edward, Miller, and Alfred Travers all searching for Shangri-La.

In Tokio we bumped into Skelly Carroll paying off a bet by pulling a jirikisha around the city for three days dressed in shorts. At a Japanese night club Dorothea Bonhag, Thomas Dineen, Marie Somers and Jack Arnesen all students at the University of Toykanna were attempting to teach the Japanese the age-old Suzy-O.

In Australia hunting kangaroos were Alfred Brown and William Tyree, they were attempting to bring two or three back for Yellowstone Park in our own United States.

The city of Sydney was a pleasant sight. We really didn't expect to find it so civilized. The greatest surprise however was "The Brass Lantern Tea Room" doing a wonderful business. We found that it was owned equally by Edna Gipson, Charlotte Saunders, Bernice Hudson and Bernice Durham.

On the boat going from Australia we stopped off at Honolulu to find Constance Glendinning and Mercie Franke teaching dancing to the natives or vice-versa. Touring the rest of the island we met Christine Borezeka, an economics teacher, Doris Broadwell, home nursing teacher, and Selma Brod, English teacher, all taking vacations from their teaching activities at C. H. S.

As the boat entered San Francisco, its decks filled with passengers, our attention was suddenly drawn to a group of people on the Golden Gate Bridge. Suddenly we saw a man leap off the side. We were horror-stricken. A wave of murmurs crept over the crowd. A telephone call assured us that it was no suicide—but Jimmy Skinner, dare-devil stunt man of Hollywood.

C L A S S W I L L

We, the Senior Class of Cranford High School, New Jersey, being of sound and disposing mind, memory and understanding, do make, publish, and declare the following to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking and annulling any and all wills by us at any time heretofore made,

1. I, Louise Young, bequeath my means of transportation to Pearl Torgersen in order to eliminate any competition.
2. I, William Carroll, leave my collection of bow ties to anyone who can get them from Harold Davis.
3. I, Albert Volckmann, turn over my fast ball to Robert Tuttle.
4. I, George Chinery, leave to Cliff Blimp Schindler the right to speak for a corporation, and also to have it carry weight.
5. I, Alice Black, will my classic profile to Leo Sacarny.
6. I, Eleanor "Shorty" Gunvaldsen, leave my memory to Alfred "Longy" Grickowski.
7. I, Jack Arnesen, leave my ability to play "cowboy" to Walter Cooper.
8. I, William Scholz, will my dancing pose to Douglas Lisk.
9. I, Patty Wild, will my sophistication to Jeanette McCormack.
10. I, Alex Bell, leave my love for athletics to that two fisted freshman, Alex Mitchell.
11. I, Virginia Wheeler, leave to Violet Decker the key to my cedar chest, so that her long desire to read my "Brooklyn mail" may be fulfilled.
12. I, Ray Collins, leave to anyone sitting in the third seat in Room 8, all the chewing gum under the seat.
13. I, Doris Broadwell, bequeath my bashful brother to the girls of Cranford High.
14. I, Ed Cole, leave my yellow roadster to anyone with a gallon of gas.
15. I, Christine Borezeka, leave my knowledge of the Greeks to that God of Fire, Dickie Marriner.
16. Money I have none, but my love, I leave to Everyone. The Homespun Philosopher — Jack Caffrey.
17. I, Edwin Ensor, give "Joe Banana" to Miss Mifflin.
18. We, the Senior Class, give Miss Teague's Swatzicker to Ewald Scheutze.
19. I, Margaret Robinson, treasurer of the Senior Class, leave on the Westbound train.
20. I, Charles Albury, leave all the seats I "lifted" in Assembly to Mr. Clement.
21. I, Fred Schroder, donate my horse laugh to Herbert Scholz.
22. I, Norman Shire, bequeath my vocal talent to Andy Devine.
23. I, Dick Vandermade, take Jane McGinnis with me.
24. I, Jack Jensenius, leave my good manners. Now I do not have them any more.
25. We, Elinor Francis and Louise Henofer, leave "Sadie and Emma" to the local garbage man.
26. We, Cherrie Carberry and Alex Bell, leave the family rolling pin to Dorothy Berkowitch and Herbert Hazen.
27. I, Joe Shepard, bequeath my boxing form to "punch and beauty."
28. We, the Senior Class, donate a bus to Connie O'Brian in which to take home her many hitch-hikers.
29. I, Casey Poettler, leave many broken hearts in C. H. S.
30. I, Jack Henning, bequeath my pipe and track shoes to Arthur Modne.
31. I, Harold Davis, leave my hot air to the school radiators.
32. I, Philip Berardinelli, will my strike-out to August Delassandris.
33. I, Roy Brinkerhoff, bequeath my trucking to Adam Di Tullio.
34. I, George Leavitt, leave my pep, wim, and wigor to Warren Satter.
35. I, Pete Franklin, will my "sitdownitis" to June Skinner.
36. I, Jimmy Skinner leave my way with the women.
37. I, Ethel Schultze, leave my collection of boys' handkerchiefs to the flatterers of the Junior Class.
38. I, Pat Enright, leave my beauty box homework club to anyone having time during classes.
39. We, the Will committee, Cherrie Carberry, Dick Shaw, and Roland Stout, leave.

THE SENIOR PLAY

The first Senior Play to be presented in the new auditorium was given on the evenings of March 18 and 19. The play, "Growing Pains," was a satire on adolescent youth. Its fast moving action and snappy dialogue were excellently received by a record breaking audience. Under the capable direction of Miss Alice L. Mathews, the cast gave a highly commendable performance.

We give you the members of the Class of '41, commonly called the Freshmen. They are fortunate indeed to spend their four years in our new school. With the excellent facilities afforded them they should become an efficient and prominent group. From the class of '38—to the class of '41—have as much fun as we have had in the four fleet years.

Due to the resignation of Miss Pray, Mr. West was appointed the sponsor for the class at the beginning of the school year.

The Junior Class waited until spring to give its annual Junior Subscription Dance, which is usually held in November in order to use the new gymnasium. The affair proved highly successful and original. The class hopes to accomplish much in its senior year.

Good Luck Juniors! May you have a successful year as Seniors!

President, Roy Daniels; Vice-President, Margaret Diradourian; Secretary, Miriam Graff; Treasurer, Bill Plummer; Student Council Representative, Leo Panasewitz; Sponsor, Mr. West.

The Sophomores have just become organized this year. They chose as their class colors blue and white. Their class motto is "Facta, non Verba". Their class flower is the gardenia.

The Sophomores have inaugurated the Sophomore Dance. It took place on April Fools' Day and was very successfully conducted.

At last the Freshmen have lost their distinction of being the smallest in the school. We are sure they are as pleased as we are to see the seventh graders, latest and briefest additions to the High-School. However, in spite of their size, they are already beginning to form class organizations.

We welcome the eighth graders in this their first year with the upper classmen. Although they will also be the first eighth grade which is unable to conduct the customary graduation exercises, we feel sure that this loss will be offset by certain privileges, such as being able to see and meet the Seniors daily.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Keystone and the Flaming Torch, emblems of the National Honor Society, readily suggest that they symbolize Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service. Those selected for the organization are expected to possess these qualities. Ten per cent of the Seniors, and five per cent of the Juniors, standing in the upper quarter of their class are eligible for membership each year.

Those Seniors who were selected last year are: Mercie Franke, Mary Elizabeth Franklin, Muriel Lindsay, Edna Miller, Marjorie Miskelly, George Poeltler, Ruth Schade, and Eleanor Wysocki.

The following students were chosen this year:

JUNIORS

Alfred Fricke	Brewster Porcella

The Red Cross Council has had a very active program this year under the direction of its able president, Bert Tuszynski. To add to the money secured by its annual membership drive, it has been given the checking-room concession for school affairs. This will help defray the expenses involved in a party given for Bonnie Burn and other welfare work.

This organization, a part of the National Red Cross centered at Washington, is working in collaboration with the local PTA and Welfare Association. Because of the new Junior-Senior High School the seventh and eighth grades have been included in the Council this year.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

The Photography Club has continued to be one of the most popular and interesting clubs. Since arriving at the new school the interest of the club has centered around its new dark room. Members are finding it possible to get much more practical experience in their new surroundings. School activities can be photographed and in a few minutes the finished picture can be bought at a nominal charge. It was decided this year that the club would hold its first annual exhibition. Good luck to them in their enterprise.

ENTRE NOUS

The French Club has held several interesting meetings this year. The annual initiation was based on highlights of the Paris exposition. At Christmas time the members enjoyed a street play of the "Moyen Age," and a Christmas Tableau with the singing of Noels. The Mardi Gras was celebrated in true French fashion by making the traditional French pancakes. The annual trip to New York was the high point of the year's activities.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club had a Professor Quiz program at the beginning of the school year, and plans a picnic later. Due to its size it has been unable to hold many meetings recently. However, at the few gatherings possible, the singing of Latin songs has been led by Mary Elizabeth Davis.

The Math club was organized by Mr. West for the purpose of a further study of math than that offered in regular classes, for those interested in such study. Several interesting meetings have been held, in which the club has discussed: determinants, synthetic division, solution of cubic equations, history of mathematics, the theory of equations. Several members are to compete in the math contest held each year at N. Y. U.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club has had a very successful year. Regular meetings have been held throughout the year. The first meeting witnessed the election of officers, and laying of tentative plans for the year's work. The following meetings were used for experiments or talks by the members, outside speakers, and discussion meetings. The club sponsored a chemical program in the assembly, given by Professor Jordy, entitled, "All Wet." Professor Jordy is the head of the chemistry department of Brothers College, Drew University. He was assisted by Dick Shaw. The climax of the year's program was a Parents' Night.

The Biology Club has begun its meetings since its arrival at the new school. There are twenty-four members. They have recently shown interest in laboratory work, such as dissecting, and making microscope slides and museum specimens. Some of the programs have included reports on plants and animals of the pupils' choice.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM COMMITTEE

This is the organization which is in charge of all assembly programs. It has presented everything from a swing band to a faculty program. When we moved into the new school, Mr. Dittmer had charge of many musical programs, which proved to be very successful. This year the committee is under the capable direction of Mr. Wm. Ballare who puts into effect many of his good ideas.

This year the Creative Writing Club was introduced. Although membership is limited, all those in the club are extremely interested in this work. They have adopted a distinctive idea in dues, charging one article of written material for each meeting. Any literature is acceptable, from one sentence to a complete composition. The offering is read, then discussed and criticized by the fellow-members.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club has been organized since the removal to the new High School in an attempt to educate students in library work. The membership includes eleven pupils, generally those appointed library monitors of study halls. They are taught the classification of the books, the meaning of the numbers and similar essentials of library training.

At each meeting a report is given of some new publication.

The Chess Club, sponsored by Miss Mifflin, has held regular meetings throughout the year. The first meeting was devoted to the election of officers. The succeeding meetings were devoted to practice, and the selection of a team. The playing year was rather unsuccessful. Two matches were lost to Pingry, 4-2; one match was lost to Perth Amboy, 5-1; and one match was drawn with the Morristown School, 2-2. The team hopes to be more successful in the matches still to be played.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

As in other years, the band was a colorful part of our football season. This year through the facilities of our new school we are able to have them also at many of our basketball games. They continued this busy schedule by playing at a number of the musical assemblies. And as a final touch to a most successful year, they gave their second annual concert at Columbia.

FOOTBALL SQUAD

Cranford's 1937 football eleven was awarded third place in the final standings of the Group 2 North Jersey High School Competition. Though the team's win and loss record was not as impressive as it might have been, the team fought on relentlessly under the able leadership of Captain Harold Grimes. Six veterans, namely Harold Grimes, Tom Nolan, Roy Brinkerhoff, Al Brown, Ronnie Kelsey, and George Poeltler reported for practice and formed the nucleus of a very inexperienced team. Tom Nolan proved to be extremely valuable in the score column with twenty-five points to carry away the scoring honors for 1937. Others placing in this column were Poeltler with twelve points, Ericksen, Brinkerhoff, Korner, and Ensor with six points each, and Captain Grimes with one point.

BASKETBALL TEAM

The Blue and Gold courtsters went through the 1937-38 basketball season in brilliant fashion, although the win and loss column stood eight and eleven respectively, including County and State Tournament games. Their speedy and flashy offense netted them a total of five hundred and eighty-two points with "Casey" Poeltler snatching the scoring honors with one hundred and sixty-five points. Casey also received All-State mention upon the recommendation of a local sports reporter. Top individual scoring honors, other than Poeltler's, included Korner's 141 points, Ericksen's 118 points, Grau's 83 points and Grimes's 37 points. The team was ably led by Gordon Grau and Paul Ericksen, co-captains.

TRACK TEAM

With letter-men Korner, Henning, Snyder, Davis, and Joe Plummer forming the backbone of this year's track squad, much hope is held for the '38 Blue and Gold Track Team. Promising recruits present themselves to strengthen this conviction. Among those certain to be heard from are John Feduniak, Fred Schroder, Dick Shaw, Paul Ericksen, and Cleve Muldrow.

Under the coaching of Mr. Weekley, this team should go far. It has been decided to withdraw from the Princeton Meet this year because of the abolishment of high school group standings in the competition.

BASEBALL TEAM

With two letter-men in the line-up the Blue and Gold nine inaugurated its 1938 season by playing Woodbridge at Woodbridge on April 20. Although dropping this game, Cranford showed that with a bit more polishing up it will become a strong opponent for any team. The two veterans are Grimes and Poeltler. A promising group of newcomers to varsity competition are casting a lighter and gayer light upon the team's chances. Among these are Alex Bell, Tom Nolan, A. Volckmann, R. Brinkerhoff, H. Beadle, and Bernie Maloney. The latter two are playing a bang-up game at third and first base respectively.

Coach Migliore, a well-known and popular teacher, has taken the position of baseball mentor for this season.

HOCKEY TEAM

After a year of idleness, hockey returns to take its place in Cranford's sports parade. The inactivity of the team was due to unseasonable weather in the winter of 1936-37 so no games were played, but this year the team played under Captain Bill Plummer's leadership. Their win, loss, and tied record, was three, four and one, respectively. Joe Plummer was high scorer with five goals to his credit. The team supported itself financially and did a very fine job.

The lineup for the 1937-38 Blue and Gold Hockey Team consisted of Hager and Davis, defense men; Skinner and Bill Plummer, wing men; Joe Plummer, center; E. Wild, goalie. The reserves for this team included George Kettle, Solon Lawrence, King Ward, "Bud" Hall, and Bill Spole.

They played Hun School, and were beaten 9 to 1, but this occurred only after a three weeks' period of warm weather, during which ice hockey was an impossibility.

GIRLS' A

The Girls' Activity Program has as its aim to encourage each girl to participate in the sport or sports which she prefers and is best suited for, now and in future life. The new high school has been a great aid in making possible the attainment of this goal during the past year. Due to better facilities and more time, it has been possible to provide many individual activities and team games. There has been a noticeable amount of interest and enthusiasm in the way the girls have entered into their athletic program.

Basketball proved to be a very popular sport this year. Fourteen teams took part in the tournament. Numerals were presented to the winning team captained by Betty Scarbrough.

THLETICS

Nomahegan Park was the scene of hockey games which took place in the fall. A number of girls enjoyed this activity, and again the Juniors showed their outstanding ability.

Badminton was introduced for the first time and proved to be a leading activity with an enrollment of ninety girls. Two tournaments were held, an "Elimination Tournament" and a "Ladder Tournament".

Classes in golf were held four afternoons a week. Bowling, volley ball, servusball, and paddle tennis, also have some enthusiastic participants.

Track and baseball, as yet, are incomplete.
Sponsor—Mrs. Breck.

SCIENCE SQUEAKS

All statements below have been proved true by the scientists of our Science Squeaks Department. Only after long and tiring research work are we able to relate these facts to you; you may be astonished at the facts revealed by this department, so take a strong reinforced chair and sit down and get ready for Science Squeaks.

- 1—Most young authors live in attics because they usually cannot live on the first story.
- 2—Cuba, an island in the Atlantic Ocean—believe this or not—is entirely surrounded by a thing called water. The department has recently warned Cuba of this fact.
- 3—Of all the Science Squeaks, this one is by far the most startling and amazing—it is the fact that most divorces are caused by marriages.
- 4—The introduction of the camera has made the taking of pictures much easier.
- 5—Birds fly south every fall because it is too far to walk.
- 6—This Science Squeak will undoubtedly cause an argument—99% of all the college students who graduated in 1937 were able to read and write.
- 7—Fire extinguishers filled with gasoline have been found by scientists not to be very effective in fighting fires.
- 8—It is easier to chew chewing gum when the wrappers have been removed.
- 9—Not one major league baseball player in the years 1935-37 was able to steal to first base.
- 10—Ocean currents are stopping places where electric eels are charged.

CLASS PROPHECY

We visited the M. G. M. studios in Hollywood where Cherrie Carberry, Mary Jane Yeakel, and Laura Zickler are acting as script girls for the picture "The Wise Profits" whose stars were Paul Ericksen, Rita Hashim, and William Speed. This famous picture was being directed by Buddy Morris. On stage 22 Warren Peterson was doing the 12th in a series of Tarzan Pictures, his mate was none other than Helen Randall.

At the Brown Derby we saw many familiar faces, among them: Robert Griffin, famous comedian; Tommy Nolan, ex-pugilist turned movie star; Virginia Wheeler, gossip column editor; Jane Wallace, society blues singer; and Mildred Ummer, currently playing the title role in the picture "Alice-in-Wonderland."

Hiring a car and a trailer from Bob Grube, persistent salesman, we started eastward. Stopping at a drive-in for refreshments we were greeted by the proprietor Richard Doyle whose assistant Millie Di Tullio served us delicious malted milks.

In the trailer camp about 300 miles from Hollywood we met a group of Cranford residents traveling toward the west coast. They were Mary Doyle, magazine editor, Betty Massa, housewife, Grace Steggalls, radio commentator and her secretary, Doris Wanko. At Reno, two of our ex-classmates, Anne Valentino and Alice Sanzalone, who contrary to the usual custom were getting married.

Traveling through the wilderness we uncovered the Dude ranch of Peter Markey, famed for his yearly rodeo.

In Yellowstone, Peggy Wetjen, the ex-follies girl, was amusing herself feeding the bears. Also visiting Yellowstone was George Snyder, distinguished New York Lawyer vacationing after a trying murder case.

Crossing Lake Michigan on the same boat were James Reilly, his wife and their triplets. "Ah, there's no place like home—" said Elinore as we sat down to dinner our first night at home. "The world is a wonderful place—very marvelous—but living from a trunk and sleeping on a rocking boat are not my ideas of comfort."

"Yes" said Fred—"I'm inclined to agree with you two—Maybe married life isn't so complicated after all."

Just then the twins let out a wail, the milk glasses upset; the potatoes burned and Elinore and Louise longed for the solace of a London fog.
